I am creating a mobile-friendly version of an HTML5 site. I have noticed a strange behavior when I set the href attribute in an anchor tag in a navigation bar using jQuery mobile. I initially have a navigation bar defined in a like this: Home When the page loads, this navigation bar appears as expected. Then I place a panel within the navigation bar like this: Home About Us Services The anchor tags within this navigation bar are supposed to act as buttons but when I click them the whole navigation bar disappears. I think the problem
