My BNC and My NA get along really well. Thats a great help. I just come here for answers and that gets me by for now. I appreciate your help. Hi. I'm running Xubuntu. I installed blueman from source. It's definitely installed and working. However, I can't find the menu entry anywhere. Where would I find blueman, as it's not in menu applications? jwatt: you probably need to install it separately TheSheep: installed separately? What do you mean? jwatt: like just run'sudo apt-get install blueman' TheSheep: I've done that and blueman shows up in the menu, it's a separate package oh TheSheep: any idea how to make it not show up in the menu? jwatt: I don't know Right click -> Remove from Panel then right click again to re-add :) Also, if you add a.desktop file in /usr/share/applications/Blueman.desktop then it will appear in the applications menu cody-somerville: not sure I understand what you mean (I'm not sure if thats what you want, but it works for me.) sorry for being stupid. I understand now. Thanks jwatt: my thought is the whole point of a.desktop file is that it be visible in the menu jwatt: like the.xinitrc and.Xsession files maxamillion: I agree, the.desktop file wasn't my intention. I tried it and it doesn't work. I wanted the blueman.desktop file to not show up in the menu, but have it there when launching it from a terminal. I guess I'll have to do that.
