Technical Field The present invention relates to solid-state imaging devices, camera systems, image capturing devices and electronic apparatus, and more particularly to a solid-state imaging device, a camera system, an image capturing device, and an electronic apparatus that capture images using an image sensor such as a CMOS image sensor. 2. Description of the Related Art As solid-state imaging devices, CMOS image sensors have become common, and for example, in the field of surveillance cameras or the like, CMOS image sensors that are highly sensitive and have low power consumption are widely used. In CMOS image sensors, for example, a CMOS image sensor disclosed in JP-A-2010-114014 (hereinafter, Patent Document 1) is known. The CMOS image sensor disclosed in Patent Document 1 has a configuration in which a plurality of pixel circuits, each of which is capable of independently outputting signals, are arranged in a matrix in a pixel area, and the signals output from these pixel circuits are sequentially output from the pixels. In addition, a CMOS image sensor that outputs, in addition to a normal pixel circuit, a column circuit that outputs signals for every pixel column based on a reference signal from an external circuit is also known. In a CMOS image sensor disclosed in Patent Document 1, output signals 2d92ce491b
