In the episode it is revealed that after saving his first kiss, Dennis was able to achieve a higher score in the school's kissing championship. Even though the bar is too low, Dennis felt a rush and was called "a four-time kissing champ." (This contradicts his statement that a single time was "a big deal" on "Modern Family.") The girls' team takes second place, with Charlie and her team placing second in the math section and Claire and her team placing second in the writing section. The teams' combined total is 45 points, placing them in third place, just behind the winning Blair High School. Critical reception The episode received positive reviews from critics. The Washington Post critic Tom Shales wrote, "I haven't been this excited about the news about a TV show since the Writers Guild of America announced that the studio audience would be eliminated from 'The Tonight Show' in 1969." Rotten Tomatoes gives the episode a score of 86% based on 13 reviews, with an average rating of 6.3 out of 10. The website's critical consensus reads, "Innovative and diverse in concept and execution, 'The Kiss-Off' is funny, clever and in keeping with the series' tone, a welcome return to the high-concept humor of its predecessors."
