data Parameters for data collection The Raman spectroscopy (Raman) analysis is performed by exciting the material with a laser and collecting the emitted photons.
The Raman spectrum is obtained by Fourier-transforming the resulting light intensities. Description of data collection Raman spectroscopy is performed in two ways: photoluminescence (PL) and photoluminescence excitation

(PLE). The Raman PLE spectra are obtained by exciting the material with a laser and measuring the laser induced transient current in the sample. The laser excitation fluence is varied from $0.3 \mu\text{J}/\text{cm}^2$ to $20 \mu\text{J}/\text{cm}^2$, while the number of laser pulses is kept constant at 10.

The photoluminescence (PL) spectra are obtained by exciting the material with a short laser pulse and subsequently collecting the emitted photons from the material. The PL spectra are corrected for the detected background light. Data
