Defense Surprises Patriots in Second Half With the score tied at 35-35 and the game on the line in overtime, Clemson's defense refused to let Tom Brady and the New England Patriots ride to a 35-34 victory. The Tigers' defense held its own in the fourth quarter, allowing just 15 yards, on three rushing plays, before finishing New England off with a nine-play drive that ended with a one-yard touchdown run from Dion Lewis, the first time in the game the Tigers held the ball the entire way. The Clemson defense had all it needed to seal the deal. Late in the first half, the game was tied at 10-10 when Clemson's defense stuffed the Patriots' two first-down run plays. On both occasions, the Tigers got pressure on Brady and he was forced to scramble. Those two plays set up Clemson's offense for drives of 41 and 31 yards, which resulted in points on a one-yard touchdown run by Deshaun Watson in the second quarter and a 14-yard touchdown pass to Ray-Ray McCloud in the third quarter. The third-quarter touchdown put the Tigers up 14-10. “There was no question in the defensive room,” said Clemson safety Javonee Ayers. “We knew we had to buckle down on defense and make them have to throw the ball on us. It paid off. We forced them to throw the ball on us and we were able to get them into that third-down situation and make plays.” The stage was set for the Clemson defense to prove itself on the biggest stage in college football. After the team's biggest win of the season, the Tigers will be preparing for the Miami Hurricanes on Saturday in the ACC Championship Game in Atlanta. “
